You can post it in the Red Box at the back of church or hand it to Anne or Steve Towler at the 10:30 Mass. Many thanks for your continued support and generosity.

There is now an accident / incident book kept in the sacristy. Please complete when necessary – however small.

To comply with Health & Safety Requirements we have green exit signs in church. In case of fire, emergency access can be made through the confessional and the presbytery's front door, or via the Millennium Room onto Warren Street (the gates are unlocked).

THE WORD AHEAD – Next Sunday's Gospel

Read – The Gospel for Sunday 10th February (Luke 5:1-11) The Call of the First Disciples After spending a few minutes considering this Gospel, continue by reading Fr. Henry Wansbrough's reflection.

*There were obviously several different versions of the call of the first disciples circulating in the early Church. In the gospels of Mark and Matthew, Jesus is passing along the shore of the lake when he calls two pairs of disciples. In John it takes place where John the Baptist was preaching. The story in Luke has many similarities to the story at the end of John's gospel after the Resurrection, when the risen Christ commissions Peter: a night of failed fishing is followed by a huge catch as a consequence of obedience to Jesus' instructions, and so the Church has always seen this event as signifying the need for obedience to Christ. Luke's version combines the same play on words as in Mark and Matthew about fishing for people, but Luke sets the story a little later. In Mark the fishermen have never seen Jesus and follow him blindly; in Luke Peter and his friends have already got to know Jesus before they are commissioned. A special feature in Luke is Peter's cry that he is an unworthy sinner. Luke often teaches us that no one can be a disciple of Jesus without first admitting their sinfulness: Zacchaeus the tax-collector (Luke 19:1-10), and the woman who wept at Jesus' feet (Luke 7:36-50) are other examples. What is significant about the Lord's call of his disciples according to Luke's account?
